

Alexander Sergunin is Professor of International Relations, St. Petersburg State University, Russia. He received his Ph.D (history) from the Moscow State University and habilitation (political science) from the St. Petersburg State University. His fields of research and teaching include International Relations Theory and Russian foreign policy thinking and making. His most recent book-length publications include: Explaining Russian Foreign Policy Behavior: Theory and Practice (Stuttgart, 2016); Russia in the Arctic. Hard or Soft Power? (Stuttgart, 2016) (with Valery Konyshchev); Russian Strategies in the Arctic: Avoiding a New Cold War (Moscow, 2014) (with Lassi Heininen and Gleb Yarovoy); Contemporary Military Strategy (Moscow, 2014) (with Valery Konyshchev); Contemporary International Relations Theories (Moscow, 2013) (with Valery Konyshchev et al.).